Introduction:

A company's capacity is generally governed by its memorandum and articles of association, which define the scope of its powers. The Companies Act (or relevant jurisdiction's legislation) also provides statutory provisions.

- Ultra Vires Doctrine:

Historically, acts beyond the scope of the company's powers were ultra vires and void. Modern statutes have largely abolished the doctrine's harsh effects but still require companies to operate within their constitutional documents.

Application to the Scenario:

- Since ABC Ltd was properly registered with valid memorandum and articles, it possesses the legal capacity to enter into contracts within its authorized scope.

- If the contract with XYZ Ltd falls within ABC Ltd's objects as specified in its constitutional documents, the company is generally bound by the contract.

- However, if the contract pertains to activities outside the company's objects (ultra vires), it may be invalid, and the company may not be bound unless the third party was unaware of the ultra vires nature.

Additional Considerations:

- Ratification and Estoppel:

Even if the contract initially exceeds the company's powers, ratification by the company's members or doctrines like promissory estoppel may render the contract valid.

- Third-Party Knowledge:

If XYZ Ltd knew or ought to have known that the contract was ultra vires, the company might not be bound.

Conclusion:

Assuming the contract falls within ABC Ltd's objects and the company was properly incorporated, ABC Ltd is likely bound by the contract. The principles of separate personality and statutory capacity support this, provided there is no evidence of ultra vires conduct.

Sample Question 2: Directors' Duties and Breaches

Question:

John is a director of DEF Ltd. He has recently approved a transaction that benefits himself personally, without disclosure to the board or shareholders. Discuss the fiduciary duties owed by directors like John, the implications of breaching these duties, and possible remedies available to the company.

Model Answer:

Introduction:

This question examines the fiduciary duties owed by directors under company law, focusing on conflicts of interest and the remedies for breach.

Legal Principles:

- Fiduciary Duty of Directors:

Directors are fiduciaries, meaning they must act bona fide in the best interests of the company and avoid conflicts of interest (Regal (Hastings) Ltd v. Gulliver, 1942).

- Key Duties Relevant to the Scenario:

- Duty to Avoid Conflicts of Interest:

Directors must not profit from their position or use company property, information, or opportunities for personal gain without disclosure and approval.

- Duty of Good Faith and Loyalty:

Directors should prioritize the company's interests over personal interests.

- Statutory Duties:

Under statutes like the Companies Act, directors are required to disclose conflicts and obtain approval where necessary.

Application to the Scenario:

- John's approval of a transaction benefiting himself personally constitutes a breach of his fiduciary duty to avoid conflicts and to disclose his interest.

- Failure to disclose his interest to the board or shareholders is a violation of statutory obligations and common law fiduciary duties.

- The transaction is potentially voidable at the instance of the company unless John can demonstrate that he disclosed his interest and obtained approval or that the transaction was fair and reasonable.

Implications of Breach:

- Personal Liability:

John may be held personally liable to account for any profits gained or for damages caused by his breach.

- Invalidity of the Transaction:

The company can rescind the transaction or seek recovery of losses.

- Disqualification:

In severe cases, directors may face disqualification from holding future directorships.

Remedies Available:

- Derivative Action:

The company can initiate proceedings against John for breach of duty.

- Restitution and Compensation:

The company may seek compensation for losses incurred due to the breach.

- Injunctions and Orders:

Courts can issue orders to prevent or rectify breaches.

Conclusion:

John's conduct in approving a self-benefiting transaction without disclosure breaches his fiduciary duties. The company has legal recourse to recover losses and hold him accountable, underscoring the importance of transparency and duty compliance for directors.
